Tokyo Radio Says—

JAPAN ACCEPTS ALLIED TERMS

WASHINGTON—A world waiting for official news of Japanese surrender was told today that no such news was on the way—yet. Tokyo radio broadcasts indicated, however, that when it does come it will be acceptance of the allied unconditional surrender terms.

Superforts Again Hit Japanese

PEARL HARBOR—Soviet troops thrust deeper into western Manchuria today while more than 600 American Superfortresses and fighters ripped central Japan, as Tokyo reported that Japan has decided to accept the Potsdam ultimatum of unconditional surrender.

The Superforts dropped 3,200 tons of bombs and left two arsenals and a clogged railway yard on Honshu wreathed in flames.

Russian tanks and Mongol horsemen swept across the Manchurian wastes for more than 120 miles, in the fourth and newest of their offensives during the six days of fighting.

LESS THAN A HOUR after the last B-29 had turned home from the raids on central Japan, Tokyo made the announcement that Japan has decided to accept the Potsdam declaration. Most of the giant raiders still were on their way back to the Marianas.

At the same time the Japanese claimed their suicide planes had made another assault against Admiral Halsey's mighty third fleet. Radio Tokyo said the suicide planes attacked as late as 12:39 Tokyo time. The Japanese surrender broadcast came at 2:49 a.m.

THE JAPANESE BROADCAST claimed that five other suicide planes had crashed into an American aircraft carrier off the north east coast of Okinawa last night.

The 3,200 tons of bombs dropped today by railway yards at Maebashi only 22 miles west of atom-bombed Hiroshima, at 12:30 p.m. today (6:30 p.m. yesterday, Alpena time).

At 2:15 p.m., the 58th and 73rd wings blasted the Hitachi naval arsenal on the Inland sea and the Osaka army arsenal, the largest in Japan.

Russia broadcasting three hours after Radio Tokyo's surrender message, ordered her advancing Manchurian armies to over take the fleeing Japanese forces and to "show them no mercy."

Sales were divided as follows: $2,293 in stamps and $17,361.75 in war bonds.

The banner award for July sales on stamps was won by Hamilton Garage. The band banner went to the Owl cafe.

The August quota is $7,500, same as in July.

Blast Kills 13 in Detroit

DETROIT—Police and fire authorities today investigated use of inflammable liquids at the Export Box and Sealer-co, where 13 persons were burned to death yesterday in an explosion and fire.

Held in the investigation were Philip Hoffman, 43, foreman of the degreasing department where the blast occurred, and Michael Zarack, 46, who police said handled a can of fluid at the time of the flash fire.

PRESIDENT R. J. THOMAS of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) said he would ask for a grand jury investigation.

Fire Chief Edward Hall said the company had been warned last April to install safeguards against inflammables. The two-story brick plant was closed five days at that time until the company agreed to comply with the order, Hall said.

Police searched the charred wreckage of the blast-strewn factory for possible victims overlooked after flames seared the building late yesterday.

BUT HALL SAID NO others were believed trapped by the fire resulting from ignited fluid. Receiving hospital treated 40 persons and reported several in dangerous condition.

Others of the 180 workers employed in the packaging plant escaped injury. The company has been preparing war materials for overseas shipment.

The speeding flames fed through the building by the force of the first blast, trapped many of the workers on the second floor where at least 11 perished.

The bowling alley will open Wednesday evening, Aug. 5, 7:30 to 12:30. (13)

Sewer, Water Project Waits

Owners of property in outlying sections of the city such as Franklin-st between Ontario-st and Third-av should not expect sewer and water main installations until circumstances permit the city to comfortably finance its share of such a project.

That was the edict of Mayor Kurrasch and most members of the Municipal Council Monday night for installation of sewer and water service, particularly water.

Philip Precord and Mr. and Mrs. James Eastom told members of the Council that well water in their district is of poor quality and limited in quantity.

MR. EASTOM said "we're paying more taxes than some people on the north side of the city who have both sewer and water."

"Water service should come before blacktopping of streets," said Mrs. Eastom when advised by Mayor Kurrasch that the city's financial condition did not permit approval of a big sewer and water main project at this time.

City Manager Scott reiterated his recommendation made at last week's meeting that the city should expend $14,685 for sewer and water main facilities serving a large area of prospective home owners rather than spend money in driblets for installations which will not become a part of the city's master plan.

THE CITY MANAGER said a preliminary survey of the area disclosed that the assessed valuation of property to be served by a large project is nearly $16,000. He added that the city charter permits a special assessment of only 25 per cent of the property value and that therefore property owners would contribute approximately $4,000 toward a project costing more than $14,000, requiring the city to finance the remainder.

The city manager said he would obtain additional data on the prospects of financing a long range project.

A long diplomatic message reported en route from Tokyo to Bern, Switzerland—assumed by the White House and everybody else to be the official Japanese reply—turned out to be something else.

When the actual surrender note will be started on its way was known only to the Japanese. While they stall, the war goes on!

The Japanese radio alerted Japanese listeners for a broadcast of "unprecedented importance" at 11 p.m. EWT. That may be the first official enemy announcement that the emperor has accepted unconditional surrender.

Hours earlier, at 1:49 a.m. EWT, the Japanese Domei news agency had interrupted a discussion of chibiakin cures to broadcast:

"Flash—Tokyo—14-8—learned imperial message accepting Potsdam declaration forthcoming soon."

ONLY THE JAPANESE knew what they meant by "soon."

White House press secretary Charles G. Ross announced at 9:52 a.m. that the Japanese surrender note was expected here "some time today." About 2½

S. strategic air forces, announced that more than 1,000 of his planes were in action against the enemy in the last 24 hours, with more than 900 Superfortresses unloading more than 6,000 tons of demolition and incendiary bombs on a total of six targets.

Peace Celebrations Gain Momentum Over the Nation

By Joe W. Morgan
United Press Staff Correspondent

A tide of joy rose gradually across the United States today. Peace seemed to be just around the corner.

The news that Japan was ready to surrender unconditionally to the United States brought people tumbling sleepy-eyed out of bed in the early morning hours from Broadway to main street.

This, perhaps, was the day awaited for three years, eight months and seven days since Pearl Harbor day by every mother with a son, every wife with a husband in uniform, and every sister with a brother fighting for his country.

And perhaps it wasn't. Underneath the hilarity there was that sobering thought. Celebrators were held back by a caution that said wait until President Truman makes the peace official. Instead of snake dancing in the streets, thousands knelt in prayer at church.

AS THE NATION AWAITED word from Washington the celebrations in most cities were tame compared with the wild jubilation of armistice day 1918. People in many towns took the early news calmly and soberly.

San Francisco had the biggest early celebration. The news of the Tokyo surrender broadcast hit that Pacific embarkation port at 10:49 p.m. while the streets, restaurants, night clubs and movies still were filled.

Thousands of servicemen waiting for ships to take them into battle went wild with joy.

Spruce Couple To Get Silver Star Awarded Their Son

The Ralph E. Moores of Detroit, formerly of Spruce, received a government communication dated July 30 advising them that their son, Pfc. Ralph W. Moore, infantry, who was killed in action Feb. 3, 1945, has been posthumously awarded the silver star, the presentation to the family to be made at a later date. He also was awarded the purple heart.

The citation read "For gallantry in action. On Feb. 3, 1945, near Busheim, France, when intense enemy small arms and machine gun fire killed ten men, wounded others and forced the other members of his assault unit to seek cover, Pfc. Moore, a gunner, took up the fight virtually unaided. Despite a contunuous stream of enemy bullets at 25 yards range that kept all others down, he repeatedly exposed himself for over 13 hours, until a sniper killed him as he stood erect in a 4-foot high ditch firing his rifle. His speedy and accurate fire was instrumental in preventing an enemy assault on his group's position."

Pfc. Moore entered service Feb. 11, 1942, two years of which were spent overseas.

Besides his parents he is survived by a brother, Pvt. Donald E. Moore, on Luzon; and two sisters, Mrs. Inge Rasmussen, Spruce, and Miss Lorraine Moore, Detroit.

house later he had to make another announcement.

It was that the note transmitted from Tokyo to Bern did not "contain the answer awaited by the whole world."

The Swiss did not say what the note did contain. There was a possibility that it might be a long-winded Japanese protest against U. S. use of the atomic bomb.

ROSS IN HIS FIRST press conference of the day told more than 100 newsmen that the Japanese reply to the surrender ultimatum had been received by the Swiss in Tokyo.

He added that it looks as if our long vigil is coming to an end soon —that is, some time today."

He said the allied Big Four were in consultation on simultaneous release of the Japanese note after its receipt here.

BUT THE SWISS FOREIGN office in Bern and the Swiss legation here subsequently denied that the Japanese reply had been presented for transmission by Switzerland.

In his second press conference, Ross disclosed that the Swiss legation here had received at 10:59 a. m. from its government the following hope-dashing message:

"Very urgent—760—Japanese legation reports that coded cables it received this morning do not (repeat not) contain the answer awaited by the whole world."

The Swiss legation shortly after noon handed this message to the State department, and Ross made it public.

THIS DEVELOPMENT MEANT that Japanese broadcasts—and the logic of military events—were the only basis for believing that Japan at last is ready to bow to the inevitable and surrender.

One of the enemy broadcasts, in words sounding strange to western ears, reported that "on Aug. 14 the imperial decision was granted." In the light of the earlier broadcast it was assumed this meant the decision to surrender had been made.

The Japanese radio went on to say that throngs of Japanese gathered before the emperor's palace "filled with bowed heads in shame because your efforts were not enough."

Then the surrender message is received at Bern. It will have to be decoded for delivery to the Swiss.

WHITE HOUSE PRESS secretary Ross told reporters shortly before 10 a.m. that the Japanese note had been received in Bern, Switzerland, about 7 a.m. and was put into the hands of the Swiss foreign office for delivery to America.

Ross said he was "assuming nothing" regarding content of the reply. But on the other hand he also said "it looks like the long vigil is coming to an end soon."

THE SWISS FOREIGN office said in Bern that the Japanese minister there had not, at 9:30 a.m. handed the note over to the Swiss government for delivery to the United States.

The Swiss legation here said at 11:20 a.m. that it had just been informed by the Bern government that it had not yet received the Japanese reply.

The White House made no comment on these reports.

The likely situation appeared to be that the reply had gotten as far as the Japanese legation in Bern and was being decoded for delivery to the Swiss.

STATE DEPARTMENT OFFICIALS said the normal procedure for the Swiss, after receiving the note from the Japanese, would be to prepare two copies. One, the official would be transmitted to the Swiss legation here for delivery to Secretary of State Byrnes, who would take it to President Truman.

The other would be handed to U. S. minister Leland Harrison in Bern, and Harrison's presumably would telephone a summary of its contents to Washington at once.

Byrnes, meanwhile, called twice on the President, the first time at 8:15 a.m. and again at 10:30 a.m.

Still Awaiting Official Word

Obviously in high spirits, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes leaves the White House after announcing the United States had not received officially any Japanese offer to accept terms of the Potsdam ultimatum.

Peace Celebrations Gain Momentum Over the Nation

climbed to a theater marquee and tossed the letters from the sign onto the crowd below. Celebrators piled war bond booths in the middle of the street and turned them into bonfires. The crowd estimated at perhaps 30,000 persons broke into liquor stores and overturned automobiles.

SAN FRANCISCO, WHO took V-E day their stride, cut loose with all the revelry they had stored up for the firing of the last shot in the Pacific. Street car service on the main street had to be discontinued because of the crowds. A group of soldiers and sailors commandeered a truck and rolled it over. They ripped off the tires and pulled out the wires. A blonde danced in her bare feet and police and shore patrolmen stood quietly aside and watched the fun.

New York the nation's biggest city, took the good news more calmly. Crowds gathered slowly in Times square, and the revelry was confined during the first hours to the blowing of automobile horns.

By 10 a.m. police estimated 50,000 were packed on the sidewalks between 42nd and 48th streets along Broadway.

Traffic still passed through the square and hundreds rode in automobiles decorated with paper streamers and flags. A score of trucks filled with children, some of them with cymbals and horns, wound in and out of the area.

A STEADY STREAM OF paper and confetti showered the streets. A group of boys hung an effigy of Hirohito. Soldiers and sailors with their girls yelled at the moving lion of the New York Times building.

Hurry up, hurry up, hurry up."

The celebration was held in check only by the fear—as one soldier put it—"there might still be a gimmick in it."

11:14 a.m.

The Japanese broadcasts indicated that the enemy had agreed to complete surrender. But official circles here were hearing nothing as yet.

At Washington a small crowd gathered before 4 a.m. in Lafayette park across from the White House. That little gathering of about 200 persons grew hourly.

War production center, workwar production center, workers generally received the news quietly until office workers began showing up in the downtown section. Then a band played in front of the City Hall and people danced in the streets.

Most of the big Detroit war plants planned to wait for the official peace announcement before declaring a holiday, but 4,200 workers walked out of the Ford River Rouge plant to celebrate. Officials felt sure other thousands would follow before the day was out.

CHICAGO RECEIVED THE news cautiously. There was some celebrating along the Randolph street theatrical district shortly after 1 a.m., but a sudden rain sent most persons scurrying for home. Police said here probably were more people in the churches than in the bars within the first couple of hours after Jap radio flash.

At Philadelphia, crowds poured into the business section and the bigger stores began boarding up their windows.

By 2 a.m. a big crowd had gathered around the Indiana soldiers and sailors monument at Indianapolis. A crowd of young people including several sailors and soldiers went swimming fully clothed in the fountain pool.

PROBABLY THE MOST riotous spontaneous celebration began in New York's Chinatown almost immediately after the Japanese broadcast.

The Chinese set off firecrackers and the popping went on for hours as they snake-danced through the narrow streets.

Warwreckers coming off the 4 p. m. shift in Kansas City began impromptu celebrations, screaming and tooting horns as they moved down the main streets. In the residential sections, police reported that some overjoyed citizens actually were awakened, dragged out fire arms and began shooting in their air.

Seek Petoskey to Cheboygan Inland Waterway Route

ROSCOMMON—The State Conservation commission, meeting at the Higgins lake training school, Monday received an offer of $50,000 to assist in dredging an inland waterway route from Petoskey to Cheboygan.

The offer was proposed by the Inland Waterway association represented by A. T. Washburn, Petoskey attorney. Total cost of the dredging project is estimated at $150,000.

The association informed the commission that it favors a six-foot channel through a series of small rivers and inland lakes following a route from Petoskey, Conway, Indian River, Mullet lake, and the Cheboygan river. If dredged to the proposed depth, the scenic waterway would become usable by larger craft.

The Michigan migratory water fowl season will open Sept. 20, the commission decided.

THE SEASON WILL be the same as that set by federal regulation with the exception that the federal season for taking rails and gallinules in brackets other than coot was shortened to make it open on the same date as other water fowl seasons, Sept. 20. The federal opening date was set for Sept. 1. The waterfowl season will close on Dec. 8, except the rail-gallinules season which will close Nov. 20.

It was decided that although the federal regulation on possession of migratory game birds had been changed to extend the possession period when possession is legal from 45 to 90 days, the Michigan period will remain only 30 days unless a special permit is obtained.

THE COMMISSION POSTPONED a decision on the purchase of 1,700 acres in Mason county which includes Blue and Thunder lakes, pending further negotiation with land owners.

Paul Herbert, president of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, and Harry Haines, secretary of the MUCC, spoke in favor of the purchase which would make a hunting fishing ground of the property.

The commission approved offering at public auction on Aug. 31, 18,560 acres of leases for oil and gas exploration and development in 16 Michigan counties.

THE FOLLOWING PURCHASES were approved from the fish fund:

In Branch county, 780 foot frontage on Gilead lake.

In Iron county, 3,000 feet frontage on Deadman's lake and on Brule river.

In Kalkaska county, 3,500 foot frontage on Rabbit river.

In Grand Traverse county, 3,000 foot frontage on Muncie lake.

A purchase also was approved of 2,212 acres for the south eastern Michigan recreation areas.

The commission's next meeting will be at Bay City Sept. 9 and 10.

Gen. Wainwright Heads List of U. S. Captives of Japan

By Frank W. Fewlett
United Press War Correspondent

Japan's surrender will end the prison suffering, of thousands of American soldiers, sailors and marines headed by Lt. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright.

The suggestion has been made by some observers that the Japanese could evidence their good faith in surrender negotiations by producing Gen. Wainwright and permitting him to tell the American people forthwith.

BESIDES THIS GREAT and beloved American general, who passed into enemy hands with the surrender in the Philippines, the Japanese should have about 15,000 Americans in their prisons of war camps, but only time will tell how many survived more than three years of mistreatment.

The Japanese took the great majority of these American prisoners in the Philippines early in 1942. They also captured Americans on Wake and Guam, and a Texas national guard regiment which surrendered in Java.

Wainwright, as commander of Corps No. 1 on Bataan and later as Gen. MacArthur's successor to command of the Philippines, became one of America's favorite generals.

THIS CORRESPONDENT LIVED for months at Gen. Wainwright's jungle headquarters on Bataan. It was on "Skinny's" orders that I flew from Corregidor to Mindanao island after the fall of Bataan.

On more than one occasion Wainwright told me his ambition was to command the American army of occupation in Japan. He believed he could treat the Japanese firmly but fairly and erase the military influence from their lives.

I have never written about Wainwright's ambition because it might have resulted in Japanese reprisals. But even during the height of the Bataan campaign the general was quietly "picking his aides" and adding Japanese words to his vocabulary.

TITO DEFENDS ACTIONS

BELGRADE — Marshal Tito denied at a foreign press reception that Yugoslavia was on the road to Communism or was planning to establish a Communist regime. Tito said the social changes now taking place in Yugoslavia were far from Communistic and he pointed out that the country now is governed by a coalition of parties comprising the national liberation front. "Private property is respected here," he told foreign correspondents. "We have nationalized only property belonging to enemies and traitors."

MISS BUNION OF 1945—Meet Patricia Lane, above, Washington night club singer for whom Pvt. Phil Whalen of New York City has named his feet. Whalen, an infantryman in training at Ft. Replies poured in by the hundreds. Patricia was the "lucky" girl and becomes "Miss Bunion of 1945."

The ladies of Freeport, Ill., claim they have developed casserole cooking to a high degree. Home folk and guests both like casseroles combined with a tossed green salad, a fruit dessert and coffee or tea during hot August weather. Casseroles are good eating, save kitchen work, dishwashing and running back and forth.

Mrs. Lon Clark, a Freeport girl with a well-known husband, says: "When I married Lon, my mother gave me three things—a broom to sweep away my troubles, salt to season my life, and all her recipes. Mother said these three things would assure me a long and happy married life."

Nick Carter Casserole
(Serves 6)

One can condensed cream of mushroom soup, or equal quantity of white sauce and fresh mushrooms, 1½ cups canned or cooked tuna fish, or salmon, if desired, 1 package frozen peas or 2 cups cooked peas, ¼ green pepper cut fine, 1 small package potato chips, grated cheese.

If peas are fresh, cook them until tender. Put layer of potato chips in bottom of casserole, add layer of fish, then a layer of peas. Repeat. Then add mushroom soup and put a layer of potato chips on top. Sprinkle with grated cheese. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) in a covered casserole 30 minutes.

Spaghetti and Stuffed Olives
(Serves 8)

One No. 2 can tomatoes, ½ cup ground ham, ½ green pepper chopped or cut fine, 1 small bottle stuffed olives, cut fine, ½ cup cut mushrooms fresh or canned, white sauce (1 cup milk, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine and 2 tablespoons flour), ¼ pound grated or finely cut American cheese, 1 package spaghetti, salt and pepper, chopped garlic.

Boil spaghetti in large kettle of salted water. Wash in cold water and drain. Combine with all other ingredients. Bake in casserole in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 1 hour.

THE OATH TO THE FLAG

I pledge allegiance to the flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands; one Nation indivisible with liberty and justice for all.

Worthy of Peace

The whole world gives deep and heartfelt thanks for the end of fighting. But the cease-fire order does not mean, at once, the existance of peace. For peace is not merely the absence of war. Peace is the living presence of Justice.

Now Justice is hard to attain. Mortals may do the best they can to be fair, but perfect justice calls for perfect, all-embracing knowledge of the conditions and motives of men, and that no mortal has. But we can try.

With Justice comes Peace. Without Justice, there is only chaos.

Are we worthy of the peace? That must be the great question asked every individual by himself. Do we, at every point, at every moment of the day, jry, in our limited and personal lives, to be fair to our families, our neighbors, the people we have placed in authority?

From every person, every home, fairness or unfairness spreads. With fairness prevailing everywhere, some day there may be lasting peace. But it takes time. Meanwhile, with active fighting over, peace has a chance.

Returned soldier says the Alpena police are more on the alert than ever in flagging traffic violations — he's probably right but there are still some speeders around town we'd like to see knocked off.

The most blessed word in the language is peace.

Americans at Home

The separation of so many thousand families by war requirements is hard, but the remedy, as President Truman suggests, is not for soldiers' families themselves to go overseas. The President has stated the situation tactfully, saying merely that he doesn't want Americans to "settle in Europe." But there is obviously more than that in the situation. The real point is for Americans to stay settled at home, except in cases where there is good reason why they should go abroad for any great length of time.

It should be better understood in this country that living conditions, food supply and accommodations of every kind abroad are very difficult, and that every American who unnecessarily adds himself and his daily needs to the jam on the continent is making it harder for himself and other people.

A time will come again when Americans in general can go abroad legitimately and comfortably in large numbers, but people who understand the situation say that time is still rather distant.

Barbs

It's hay fever time—and the nose knows what reason is being played upon the most.

Doing the right thing would be much more popular if it was wrong.

Reports from various sources indicate picnic eats have stored away enough food for a million years.

Telephone Talk

The Tri-County Telephone Co has on hand more than 200 applications for installation of telephones. The orders can not be filled for the simple reason that the company does not have the telephones. It's the same everywhere. One medium-sized city in the middle west has 31,000 people on the waiting list for phone installations.

There must be a tremendous lot of talking going on in this country, as measured by the telephone situation. Much of the conversation is doubtless connected with business calls, but millions of times it is probably just talk.

And on the whole, it is all right. One of the things telephones are good for is to ease the conversational tension of people who would be very lonesome indeed in these war years if they couldn't keep in conversational touch with friends and neighbors. They can't travel on trains nor get about on neighborly visits with their cars. The telephone keeps them in touch and serves as a safety valve.

Speed Mania

This age seems to get more and more crazy about speed, not for useful purposes, but speed for itself. Horse racing, which was a grand sport for thousands of years, as well as a breeder of useful horses, is now too tame for most people. They want something that will go faster and faster. So they turn to mechanical contrivances, devised to do their racing for them in the sky, where there is less obstruction than on the ground.

So we now get "propulsion engines" with "jet propellers", which already fly faster than anything controllable in the heavens above or the earth below seems to have any business doing and the demand for such abnormal sport and traffic steadily increases. Fathered in wind tunnels and mothered in the upper air, these abnormal contrivances with their turbo, jet and ram engines go hurtling through space like comets, not only alone but with men riding them. This will go on, to the limits of what flesh and blood and nerves can endure. The present goal is 2,000 miles an hour.

Much of this crazy business is done in the name of scientific progress, but that is largely a bluff. It seems based on a human mania for speed, as of that were a legitimate purpose in itself. Other than a heart for getting somewhere for useful purposes. Presumably the craze has to run its course until men cease to be mere grown-up children.

The important thing, of course, is not the making of the most wonderful gadgets, but what Walt Whitman called "the making of the best people." Are we not rather neglecting that enterprise?

Outlawing Atomic War

BY JAMES THRASHER

When peace is restored the United States government should and doubtless will lead the way in renouncing and outlawing the use of atomic-energy explosives in any future war.

The atomic bomb is not a means of warfare that we would have used except in the last extremity of necessity. It came after Japan had refused a peace offer that was just, honorable and, in view of the Japs' barbarous conduct of this war, extremely magnaninous.

The government need feel no shame for having used it. If one must choose, certainly an instantaneous death by atomic bombing is more humane than the brutality of the Bataan Death March, or the slow death by torture, starvation and disease of thousands of Allied soldiers and civilians.

In view of his past record, the enemy's shocked protests are in particularly bad taste. Yet protests have come not only from Japan, but even from this country and especially from England.

The providential circumstances which prevented Germany's development of the atomic bomb before her defeat has given this country not only the first possession of this weapon, but also the first responsibility for its future. And while the world, knowing the Japanese record, has no cause to censure our use of this weapon, it does have the right to expect us to take the initiative in banning it as an instrument of war.

In this connection, the analogous case of poison gas might be noted. The nations of the world outlawed its use after World War I. Yet they did not abandon research into its further possibilities, or development of defenses against it.

All the belligerents had poison gas ready to use if the others started it. The evident reason why it was not added to the other horrors of this war was that the Axis nations knew the Allies could beat them at the same game.

Such a procedure might guide the United States in dealing with the atomic bomb. Let us outlaw it. But let us not be so foolish as to abandon its research and development. No one need fear that we shall ever start an aggressive war. But until peace is secure and disarmament feasible, we should maintain our advantage in atomic warfare until every potential warlord would know that, however deadly a weapon he might develop, the United States would have an even deadlier one in defense.

Russia Has Old Score to Settle With Japs

Russia has never forgotten the defeat she suffered after the Japs, as they did of Pearl Harbor, attacked without warning in 1904, precipitating the Jap-Russian war which resulted in destruction of the Czar's fleet and loss of Russia's Manchurian holdings. "I'm Quite Finished With Him Now"

DOUGLAS LARSEN

In Washington...

BY DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Washington Correspondent

Recently a young Russian officer who understood and spoke English was sent here on some special mission. It was his first visit to America and his astonished report of what goes on in the U. S. capital is still leaving his friends at home bewildered.

He was most shocked at the way high-ranking Navy and Army officers were treated to indifferently by the man in the street.

His most oft-repeated story is about the vice admiral who was riding to work on the 16th street bus. He was amazed to see such a dignitary use the common carrier in the first place. The bus was crowded and the vice admiral was herded in the rear like the rest. He grabbed the handle on a seat which was occupied by two apprentice seamen. They paid scant attention to him.

The pay-off came when the admiral wanted to get off. The bus had stopped at a corner which apparently was his destination and he started pulling the buzzer vigorously. The bus driver paid no attention. The cord got several more snappy tugs.

That did it to the driver. He said in a loud, good-natured voice: "You're not on a ship, sailor. Pullin' that cord won't get you off. I'll leave you off at the regular bus stop which is the middle of the next block, and not before."

THE ONE INCIDENT the bewildered Russian could never figure out happened while he was standing next to the desk of one of this city's swankiest hotels. It was Saturday afternoon. A portly colonel bustled up to the young woman clerk and politely informed her he would like to have a room. When she found out he didn't have a reservation she said she was sorry but nothing was available.

The colonel had been gone hardly a second when a young Marine officer candidate from Quantico breezed up.

"Listen, baby, this is important. I've gotta have a room. How about it?"

The girl smiled and said she'd check to see if there were any cancellations and returned with a double on the 10th floor.

NEXT TO WHERE THE Red officer was staying lived an important official in the national OPA office. His comrade, who had lived there longer than he had, explained to him that their neighbor was a big shot in the government.

The Russian took a silent interest in the man, curious as to what made an American big shot tick. One day he was in a grocery store around the corner from where he lived, buying a half-dozen bottle of soda pop, of which he had for some very fond. He watched openmouthed as he saw his OPA neighbor come in, buy some meat and then proceed to haggle at some length with the butcher.

When the OPA official left, the Russian asked the butcher if he knew to whom he had been talking.

"I don't care," he replied, "but I sure wish these guys would learn what rationing was all about."

Looking Back

In Alpena

One Year Ago—Temperatures recorded at noon today at Mich-e-ke-wis Beach were 74 for air and 66 for water. Two hundred were present for swimming and recreation.—A bus from the Smith Bus line en route from Gaylord to Alpena broke down and was 3½ hours late in arrival.—There were 75 patients in General hospital, including 19 babies.

Red Stars in Manchuria

Town Talk

GOOD MORNING

Members of a fraternal lodge were much interested recently in a visitor who had but one arm. They discussed him in curious groups and at last one member inquired, "Been in the army, I take it?" "Never in my life, the one-armed man replied calmly. "Machinery, maybe? persisted the curious one. "No." "Wreck?" "Never was in a wreck." After five minutes silence, the questioning was resumed, "Blood poisoning made it necessary to amputate, maybe?" "No." "Ever fought a duel?" "Never." Another five minutes of uncomfortable silence and the one-armed man spoke.

"I see you're naturally curious to know how I lost my arm. Well, I'll tell you on the condition that if I do, you will ask no further questions. The promise was given and the lodge member waited eagerly for the details. "Well, sir, the stranger said, "my arm was bit off."

THERE WAS A wedding celebration in town Saturday. With the bridegroom at the wheel, his bride alongside of him and other members of the wedding party in the car, they decided to tour the city. Traveling at comparatively high speed, they came to the intersection of Second-av and Chisholm-st. A quick turn of the wheel gave the occupants quite a thrill as they proceeded in another direction. But alas, the weight of a barrel of beer was too much for luggage compartment cover and out rolled the barrel on the street in the gaze of many shoppers The car was brought to a halt. A couple of onlookers aided the red-faced occupants of the car in getting the barrel back into the car and away they went.

WHEN RETURNED servicemen exchange a few yarns about their experiences in widely scattered areas of Europe, they reveal many amazing incidents. They can tell you things about the English, French, Italians, Germans and Russians which you never find in a history book.

SHE WAS DRIVING along the road at a reasonable rate of speed and as she slowed to turn to the left, she signaled her intention to the driver behind her. Then came the crash. She got out of her crumpled car and said indignantly "What's the matter with you, Sir? I put out my hand!" "I know," said the man sorrowfully as he looked at the damage, "that's what fooled me."

RAMBLINGS

Frank Schubert of First-av gladiola garden fame maintains his reputation with a bouquet of splendid gladis left at our house last night. Very fine specimens in varied colors, but Frank lamented that Mrs. Schubert had given away some of the largest. If any were larger than those adorning the table they must have been magnificent. We'll bet that Mrs. Paul Moeller is going to miss his dad garden this season.*Two girls softball teams were batting it out last night at Mich-E-Ke-Wis beach. Don't know the identity of the team but girls of one team were wearing Bomber lettering on sweaters. It was a poor chance to make a base when a high fly was batted for those girls grabbed them off like nobody's business. The grounders were the ones that brought in runs. The beach was a lively place, entire families on hand from littlest ones on up to dad and mother, and Bob Hastie everywhere.*That's all—only, much needed rain came this morning. Here's hoping it continues through the day and the sun shines tomorrow for it's Lions club picnic day.

Normal Weight A Key To Health

BY E. A. SEPULL

Vigorous health is essential to real happiness and it is best illustrated in persons of proper weight.

Insurance companies consider weights an indication of life expectancy, declining as they veer from the normal. Overweight persons are considered most likely to meet with heart trouble and the underweight with other diseases.

Scales are available everywhere to learn what your weight should be for your height and age. If there is much variation from these normal figures you should see a doctor. An early examination may ward off illness.

Should your doctor advise medicinal treatment to correct your weight difficulties be sure that you get full value of his advice by taking the prescription to a pharmacist who will fill it accurately.

THOUGHTS ON ADVERTISING

When I opened a new farm magazine, I always took first at the advertisements. It is the easiest thing to do, for they are made to catch the reader's eye—but some of them do more, and those are the ones I remember.

I recall one of a farmer pioneer—sleeves to the elbow, shirt open at the collar—a strong, brawny capable face with graying hair and firmly compressed lips. Behind his blue eyes were fixed on the blue sky and the far hills beyond. Behind him was his farmhouse and his faithful team. An American flag was waving. Seemed as though he had paused in the field to rest the horses, and was looking into the future with prayer and faith. Only a small part of a wide rural panorama, he occupied the foreground of it all, and to look at him gave confidence.

When I had leafed the book through, I returned to the advertisement and studied it again, with real enjoyment. More than three months have passed, and still it lingers in my memory. Faith might have been the title—the atmosphere was that of reverence for eternal verities. It gave a lift—a closer acquaintance with the higher nobler phases of farm life. And it did credit to the firm whose product sponsored it, in unobtrusive print.

These people had a product to sell, certainly. But they gave even their competitors, the stars to shoot at! Just as a farmer dog, who grows and sells good food. He takes nothing from his fellow farmers or his customers except that their desire for usefulness increases. His vocation is more than business.

Only occasionally do I come upon an ad with such a classic atmosphere as one that gives range and nobility not only to its sponsor but also to the publication that carries it. There is, to my mind, great appeal in splendid pastoral scenes. Such are older than nations more ancient than history itself, yet always new because they appeal to the souls of men.

Such perspective is needed in management of business for closer understanding of labor; it will produce better farming and a higher standard of living, such as comes with a sobler view of rural life and citizenship.

About 700,000 fox squirrels were taken in Michigan last year, a substantial increase over the 580,000 taken in 1943.

Who says TOKYO'S the last stop?

To the man who's travelled and fought half way round the world, the last stop is right here—home!

Every landing operation, every beachhead, every weary march brings him that much closer. But there's still a long way to go.

And just how long it will take depends in no small measure upon how well we do our war job here at home.

Part of our job—a large part—is turning every spare dollar we have into War Bonds . . . seeing to it that no dollar is spent needlessly.

It's not too much to ask.

After all, those Bonds will bring back extra dollars in 10 years. They'll give you a cash reserve for emergencies.

They'll help keep prices down where you can reach them now, and where he can reach them when he does get back. Those Bonds will go a long way toward creating the kind of peace we're all hoping for.

The best thing you can do for your fighting man—and yourself—is to turn your dollars into War Bonds—as many as you possibly can! And then hold onto them!

Tigers Sweep Second Twin Bill From New York; Increase League Lead

Reserve Leads Cubs To Win After Bench Duty Most of Year

By Carl Lundquist
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Heinz Becker has spent most of this season on the Chicago Cubs' bench because of his 87 varieties of fielding, but he was back in the lineup at first base today alongside with a busy bat for whatever may be his deficiencies defensively.

Moreover, he was making a prophet out of a rival manager. Second Baseman Bill McKechnie of the Cincinnati Reds, who describes Charley Grimm's Cubs as one of the outstanding teams in the majors since before the war.

FILLING IN FOR Phil Cavaretta, who injured a shoulder, Becker has gotten six hits in 10 times at bat. The German-born slugger led the way yesterday with a triple, a double and a single in Chicago's 4 to 1 victory over the Phils at Philadelphia. Big Paul Derringer won his 13th game and would have had a shutout but for Andy Seminick's homer.

The second place Cardinals regained six-and-a-half games in arrears after beating the Dodgers at Brooklyn, 11 to 10, in a 15-inning donnybrook that found the teams batting four hours and 13 minutes.

Nate Andrews of the Braves had trouble only in stopping Johnny Barrett in a 6 to 4 win over the Pirates at Boston. Barrett hit two homers, two singles, stole a base, scored three runs and drove in two.

Harry Feldman of the Giants handed Cincinnati its 10th straight loss at New York, a 2 to 0 shutout, for the Reds' longest losing streak since 1937.

THE SENATORS divided with the Browns at St. Louis. The Senators won the double bill.

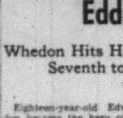
Whedon Hits Homer With Mate on Board in Seventh to Give DeMolay 5-4 Win Over Vaughn

Eighteen-year-old Edwin Whedon became the hero of the DeMolay softball team Monday night when he blasted a home run in the seventh inning with a mate on base to give DeMolay a 5-4 victory over first half champions Vaughn-Ragsdale.

It was the second straight victory for DeMolay in the second half of play after going winless the first half of competition.

Dick Wilson opened up the final frame with a single but was forced at second by Chuck Burke. With Burke on first base Whedon clamped out his four-bagger off Walt Wagner.

DEMOLAY HELD THE lead at the end of the first inning when they scored three runs on singles by Whedon and Bob Root, a double by Harry Burke and an error after Vaughn pushed a tally across in the opening of that inning on two walks and an error.



Ed Whedon

Vaughn scored a lone run in the second canto on three errors and a walk and after going scoreless three innings, took the lead in the sixth on by scoring its final runs on a walk, a single by Ed Glomski and a sacrifice.

Along with his home run Whedon collected a pair of singles and scored two runs to lead his team at the plate. DeMolay will not be able to enjoy Whedon's success long for he has enlisted in the navy and is awaiting call.

ALTHOUGH WALKING five men, DeMolay hurler Bob Berry limited to opposition to three hits and struck out one batter. Wagner allowed nine hits while fanning one and walking one.

The victory boosted the DeMolay from fifth place tie with Vaughn to four position tie with CYO, who they defeated Friday. The loss dropped Vaughn into the No. 6 spot.

K. of C and CYO will meet at 7 o'clock tonight at Market Square weather permitting. CYO will seek its second win in three starts while K. of C will attempt to gain its first victory in three tries.

Cobb, Ruth Add Color As Coaches Of East-West Teams

By Ned Brown
NEA Staff Correspondent

The best 32 boy baseball players in the land are eagerly packing their suitcases and getting ready to head for New York where they appear the night of Aug. 28. The magnet is the All-American Boys Baseball Game which sends the East against the West for the supremacy of sandlot baseball.

Babe Ruth as manager of the eastern team, and Ty Cobb as pilot of the westerners add color to the occasion.

Sixteen boys have been selected by newspapers in cities west of the Mississippi. Sixteen more have been named by newspapers east of the river. Thirteen are youngsters, 17 years of age and under, vied for a place on the squads when the eliminations, opened early in the summer. Only topnotchers remain.

The West seeks revenge for a 6-5 defeat the Easterners handed it in the inaugural game last year. In that contest, Connie Mack was the East coach and Mel Ott managed the West.

BOB GOLDSTEIN, who weighs around 200 pounds, is coming to New York from Seattle to aim at the short fences on the foul lines in the Polo Grounds. Word is that the late John McGraw would have found the Jewish prospect he sought so many years had Goldstein's trip to New York come years sooner.

Another west coast slugger will add power to Cobb's lineup. He is Bob DiPietro, an outfielder of San Francisco who hit 10 000 spectators at the circuit game there with a perfect night at bat in a 15-inning nip and tuck battle. DiPietro bagged four hits and walked three times.

Denver has a home run slugger in Myron Craig, a kid with a wrist action that helped him hit 350-foot circuit clouts over fences.

MOST TALKED ABOUT player in Ruth's lineup is Harold (Tookie) Gilbert of New Orleans, a six-foot, two-and-one-half inch first baseman who comes from a famous baseball family. His dad, Larry Gilbert, is an ex-major leaguer now managing the Nashville Vols. His brother, outfielder Charley, played with the Dodgers and Cubs. Young Gilbert has attracted the attention of scouts and fans who have watched him play in New Orleans Legion circles. Already the price tag on him is $25,000.

Twelve boys who played in the 1944 game broke into professional ball upon their return from their New York venture. Outstanding among them have been Lefty Bill Pierce, who went with the Detroit Tigers and Buffalo Bisons, and Vic Picetti, the slugging San Francisco Italian in the Pacific Coast League.

The All-American Boys Baseball Game supplies a healthy impetus to our national pastime. Old Babe and Ty may be handling a future Babe Ruth or Ty Cobb in this game. You never can tell.

Broke But Happy Conn Wants Last Try Against Louis

By Jack Cuddy
United Press Staff Correspondent

NURNBERG, Germany — Cpl. Billy Conn swore he was the happiest soldier in Germany.

Belting Billy, the heavyweight boxer who rates top priority for a heavyweight championship bout with Sgt. Joe Louis after the war, was elated because he has become a piece of "lend-lease" merchandise.

Effective immediately, he is a member of the entertainment troupe headed by comedian Bob Hope and will stay with the group for the remainder of their European tour.

AFTER THAT HE expects a September furlough home to his wife and family in Pittsburgh. Then he probably will return to Europe with a larger group of servicemen boxers who will make an extended tour under the tutelage of Capt. Newton Cox, former middleweight collegiate champion of the Southern Conference.

The 27-year-old Conn, who has been in service about three and a half years and overseas 14 months, has given 325 exhibitions for servicemen.

"They're called exhibitions but half the guys I meet try to knock my brains out to make a reputation for themselves," Conn said.

One Mexican named Costello Caruso almost turned the trick during an exhibition at Rheims when he landed a punch on my jaw immediately after we shook hands.

Conn said he was "out" on his feet for a second or two and "When I recovered, I knocked him stiff."

THE BLONDE BELTER appeared to be in fine condition, weighing around 190 pounds, about 18 more than his fighting weight. He says he has retained his speed, timing, and stamina through constant activity and that he spends only one warm-up bout before meeting Louis.

"I'd like to go against Bruce Woodcock, the new British champion," he said. "I saw him box a couple of times and he's the worst bum I ever watched."

"I hope the war is over pretty soon because I need some fights to earn some money before I get too old. I'm broke and owe Uncle Sam $30,000 in taxes. I've got a wife and two little boys so I can't do much complaining. I really think I'm happiest guy in Europe today."

Lifer to Receive Parole Hearing

LANSING — The State Parole board will hold a public hearing next Monday on the proposed parole of Dwight Hopinstall, 47, Saginaw, who has served 11 years of a life term as a fourth felony offender.

Hopinstall's fourth felony conviction in Oscoda county was for stealing horses. He previously had served time for violation of the prohibition law, armed larceny and liquor law violation.

Hopinstall is still wanted by the U. S. penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas, to finish a four year term. If the parole board orders his release from Michigan prison he will be turned over to federal authorities.

Slugging Too Much for Once Mighty Yanks

By Jack Dos Chenes
United Press Staff Correspondent

DETROIT—When the farmer looked at his first giraffe he said, "I don't believe it."

So the story goes. And some 41,956 baseball fanatics felt the same way today, several hours after witnessing two brutal sessions at Briggs stadium in which the Tigers—conspicuous most of the season for their lack of hitting ability—put on slugging exhibitions that completely overwhelmed the once mighty Yankees in a double-header by scores of 15 to 4 and 11 to 9.

NOT THE LEAST bewildered by this untoward outburst yesterday were the Yankees themselves, who indulged in a ridiculous bit of by-play in the fifth inning of the second game that aided the Tigers to pull out of a 7 to 5 hole and sweep into a 10 to 7 lead.

With two men on base, Roy Cullenbine bunted to pitcher Ken Holcombe. It was an easy out, but Holcombe threw the ball into right field, where it was retrieved by Stirnweiss. This was the Yankee second-baseman's cue to salvage what he could out of the boner. But no. He heaved the ball over the catcher's head, and all runners including Cullenbine, who should have been content with the dugout by this time scored. A close tabulation revealed today that the two contests, which marked the Tigers' fourth straight win over the Yankees and their fifth successive triumph, resulted in a total of 39 runs, 50 hits, nine errors, seven double plays, 20 bases on balls, five home runs, a triple, nine doubles, eight strikeouts, two wild pitches, and a double steal.

RUDY YORK WHAMMED out a home run in each game, bringing his season total to 11. The feat was duplicated by Russ Derry, New York outfielder, while Snuffy Stirnweiss collected one in the nightcap.

Paul (Dizzy) Trout coasted to his eleventh triumph in the first game behind a barrage of hits which included five safeties by Red Borom, subbing for the injured second baseman Eddie Mayo.

The Tigers had to extend themselves to ride to victory in the nightcap. Al Benton started against Walt Dubiel, but was touched for nine hits, which included home runs by Stirnweiss and Derry, in less than five innings. Two walks and a double and errors by Webb and Borom sent Al to the showers. He was replaced by George Caster, who was credited with his second win in as many starts for the Tigers.

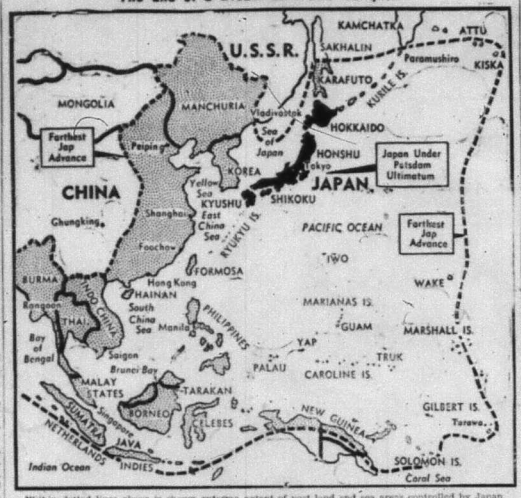
MONTGOMERY WARD

The End of a Dream of World Conquest



Within dotted lines above is shown extreme extent of vast land and sea areas controlled by Japan at peak of war success. Shown in black are the four islands which will be all that remains of the Japanese Empire.

War With Japan Cost U. S. About 275,000 Casualties

WASHINGTON—The war with Japan cost the United States about 275,000 casualties, are reporting to best preliminary data.

The grand total of U. S. casualties for the whole war against the axis is about 1,075,000. It includes approximately 975,000 army casualties and 100,000 in the navy, marine corps and coast guard.

The German-Italian part of the war cost about 800,000 U. S. casualties.

The Pacific total, includes as of now about 100,000 dead. When final reports are made, however, the death toll will be swelled by many thousands. Many men, now carried as missing or prisoners in the casualty lists, will be found to have perished. It will be months before final figures can be reckoned.

IN THE WAR AGAINST Germany and Italy, out of the 1,075,000 U. S. casualties, about 17,000 were listed as dead.

The figures above are based on latest official reports issued by the War and Navy departments, plus allowances for casualties that have been occurred but not yet announced.

In the first World War, there were 259,732 U. S. casualties, of which 53,878 were killed, 204,557 wounded and 4,480 taken prisoner.

THE LATEST OFFICIAL compilation of total casualties in all theaters was 1,068,214. This total, which was not adjusted to take into account the normal reporting lag, included 922,189 army and 146,077 navy, marine corps, and coast guard casualties.

These totals are reflected in the following, table:

	Army	Navy	Total
Killed	194,902	57,072	251,974
Wounded	570,570	77,505	649,305
Missing	33,375	10,937	44,966
Prisoners	118,302	3,728	122,647
Totals	922,139	146,077	1,068,216

Of the army wounded, 264,558 have returned to duty, and of army prisoners 95,866 had been liberated up to the time of the surrender. Comparable figures for the navy are not available.

In Jap Cabinet

Observers see unusual significance in Japan's appointment of Kenkichi Yoshizawa, above, as privy councillor only two days after the atomic bombing of Hiroshima. He is described as experienced in negotiations with the United Nations. His appointment may foreshadow creation of a Jap "surrender cabinet," designed to "save face" for the present Nip government.

Sgt. Gougeon on Way Home With Santa Fe Division

WITH THE 35th INFANTRY DIVISION, Assembly Area Command, France—Sgt. Junior J. Gougeon of Alpena, Mich., is on route home from Europe with the five-star "Santa Fe" division. Hitting Omaha Beach July 7, 1944, the 35th fought the Germans from St. Lo, broke the counter-offensive at Mortain, swept across France, cracked into Germany's Saar Valley on Dec. 12, and then whipped into Belgium and Luxembourg to wither Von Rundstedt's Ardennes bulge.

Following a shift to the Vosges Mountains, the division dashed 300 miles north through Holland to jump the Roer and Rhine rivers, crush the Siegfried line defenses, and scoop up more than 30,000 PWs by V-E Day, to mark the end of more than 1,600 combat miles in the ETO.

Sgt. Gougeon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Gougeon, 1240 Washington, Alpena. He holds the following decorations: ETO ribbon with five battle stars, good conduct ribbon, presidential citation, expert combat infantry badge and certificate of merit.

URGES HOLDING OF BONDS
ANN ARBOR— Dr. William A. Paton, professor of accounting at the University of Michigan, suggested that the millions of Americans owning war bonds should plan to hold their coupons indefinitely to avoid ruinous inflation. Bond holders as a group, Paton said, must be content to collect and spend the interest on their bonds and must repurchase bond for bond as they mature. He said he believes that the national debt cannot be reduced in substantial amount in the next two or three decades.
